Dear Investigators in charge of reading this,

I called your office a few days ago to complain about an ongoing cyberstalking, grooming and harassment ordeal. My harassers are a group, which appears to include my family:

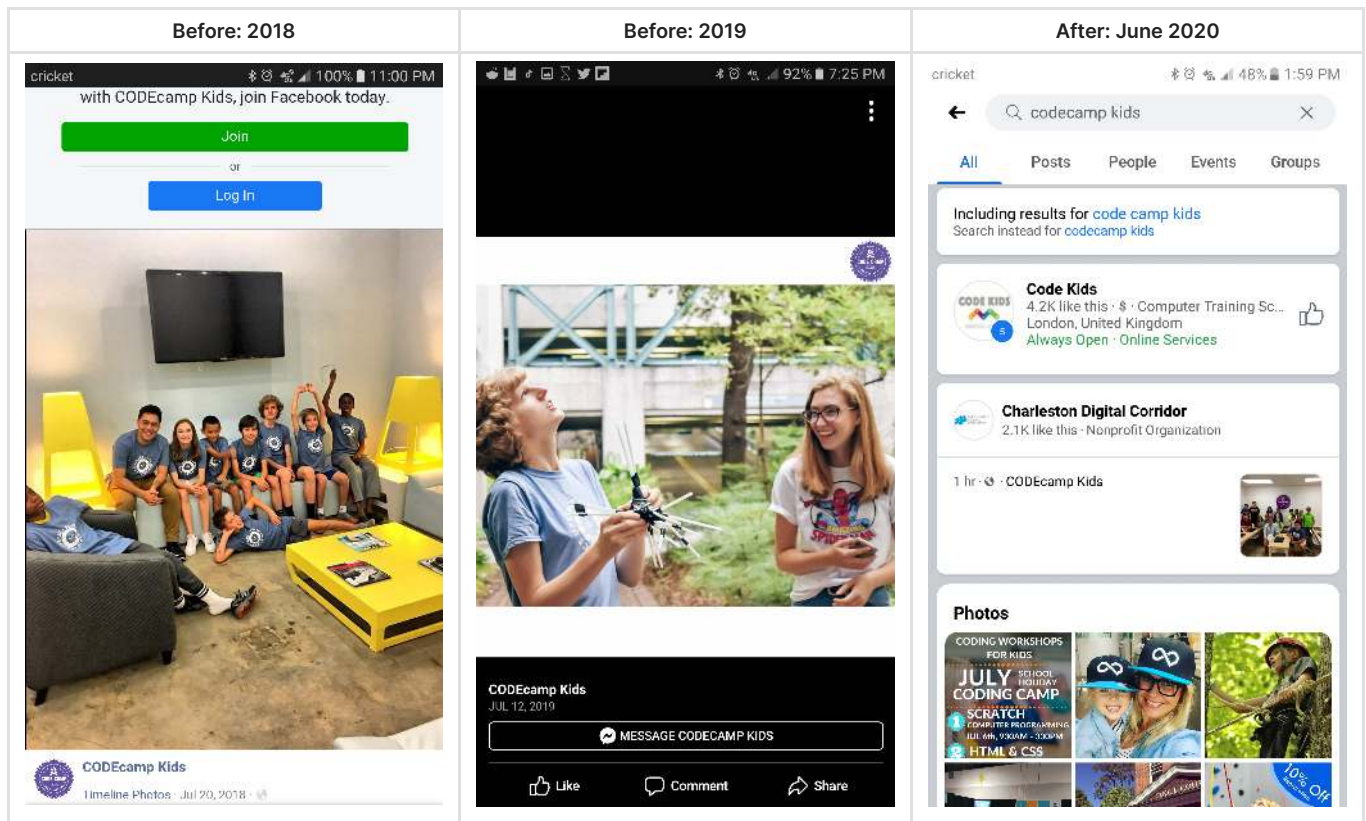

10/16/2019	06/24/2020	01/11/2021

As you can tell, it's uncomfortable and strange for Robert J Viviano Jr, (brother in law) Robert Viviano (father), and Virginia Viviano (mother) to all express a similar statement years apart, but cumulatively it's psychologically painful.

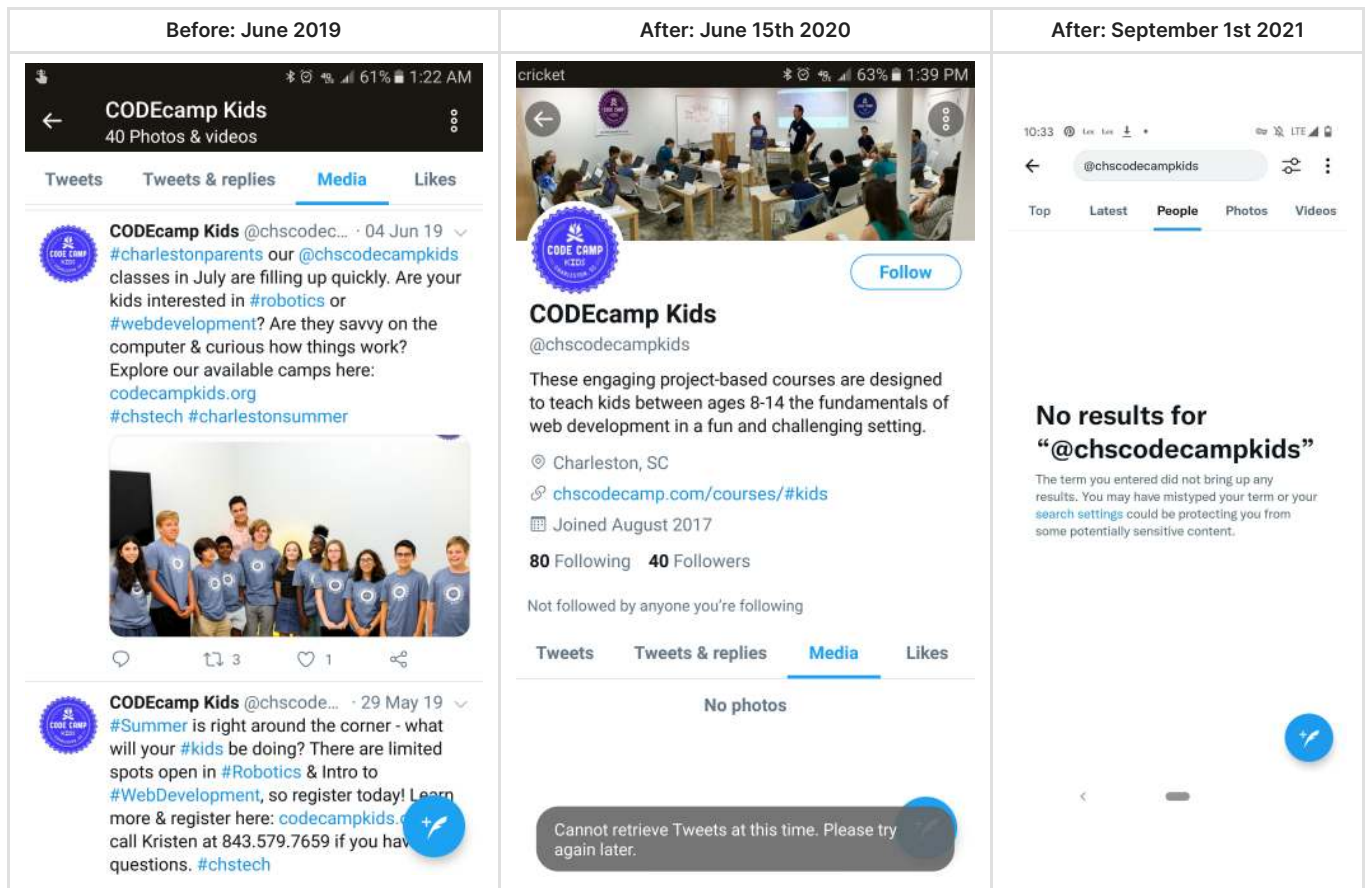

I did originally think they were victims, but my parents behaviors have been very illogical: Prior to my parents firing me for transitioning to female in 2019, I was our lead sales representative at their 6477 Chippewa St, Saint Louis, MO 63109 office location. I was told the 7530 Watson Rd, Webster Groves, MO 63119 office location was needed for "extra storage", yet upon my termination the Watson location became their primary office location while the Chippewa location was sold. In effect I was forced to move out because I lived above it.

If this weren't strange enough, I noticed my online contact Nicholas Ermolov behaving strangely and evidence being deleted on the Charleston Digital Corridor's "CODEcamp Kids" facebook:

I wasn't simply at a loss due to my parents not accepting me and firing me. I also experienced significant emotional distress because nik, who up until now alluded to being a pedophile, was not even responding to my recent rediscovery of my Ghost in the Shell inspired "Get Well Soon" card to help a young girl cope with being a cyborg:

I only reached out to nik in 2020 due to the pandemic and my fear that nik could be threatened by the virus, since she once told me she was too fragile physically to start HRT.

Also illogically the CEO of the Code Camp KIDS program did a PR piece about the camp shortly after reducing social media presence just a few days prior (06/22/2020):

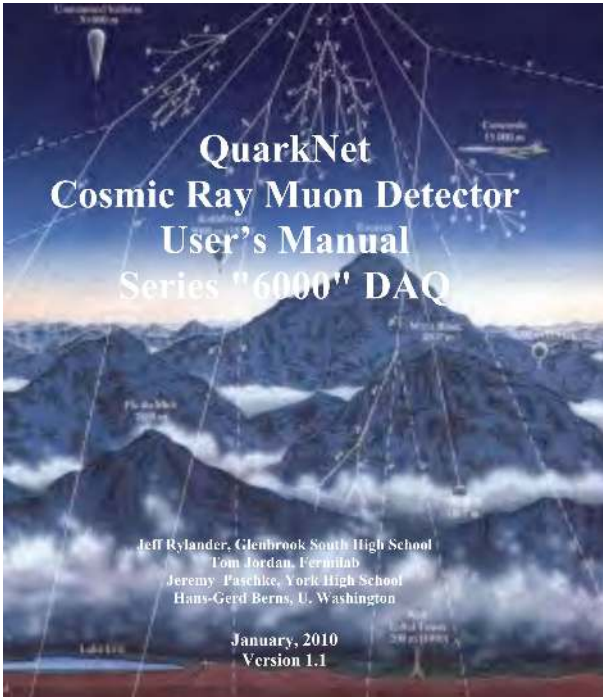

In terms of grooming techniques, the user / predator (nik: who here changed their name to ksksksk) made themselves seem relatable by manipulating my triggers related to drugs and mental states, and using suicide threats:

Early on nik shared a screenshot of themselves using code to mass delete their messages, which impressed and terrified me. Many of the servers nik was in contained cute eroticism and content adjacent to lolicon etc.

The predator groomed me to feel very sensitive to nik's needs: they dropped the name of their mentor, which helped me learn where Nick went to high school. For a time I debated calling Nick's school, yet ultimately I did not do this because the predator told me horror stories about the foster care system and state services, and I did not want to make Nick's life more turbulent than it already seemed.

Hello Mr. Rylander,

I consciously missed our SIRS meeting yesterday - I hadn't done anything. Though I know I am technically capable and I'm extremely passionate about my research project, things aren't going well. SIRS is not unique in this case: with my current mental state, I have not done any homework for classes in nearly 2 months.

So I have decided to give myself an ultimatum. I will finish the background research section, will finish the materials and methods section, and will produce a four-fold flux graph by this Friday. I have many outside contacts that can help me with this. If I do not finish, I will drop SIRS.

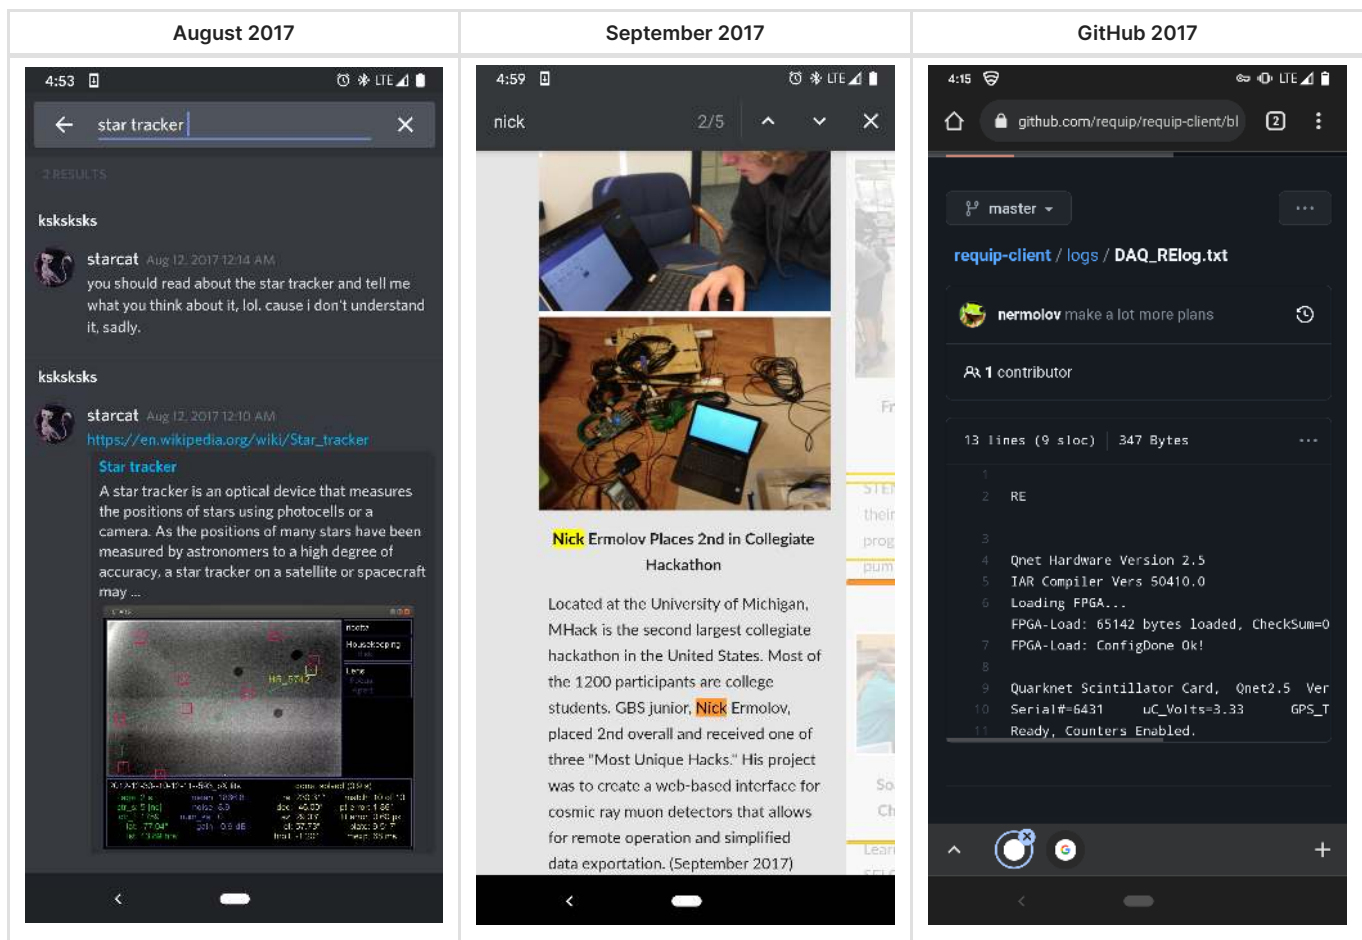

I hope that my logic makes sense to you and that I can finish by Friday.

Thank you and sorry for wasting your time.

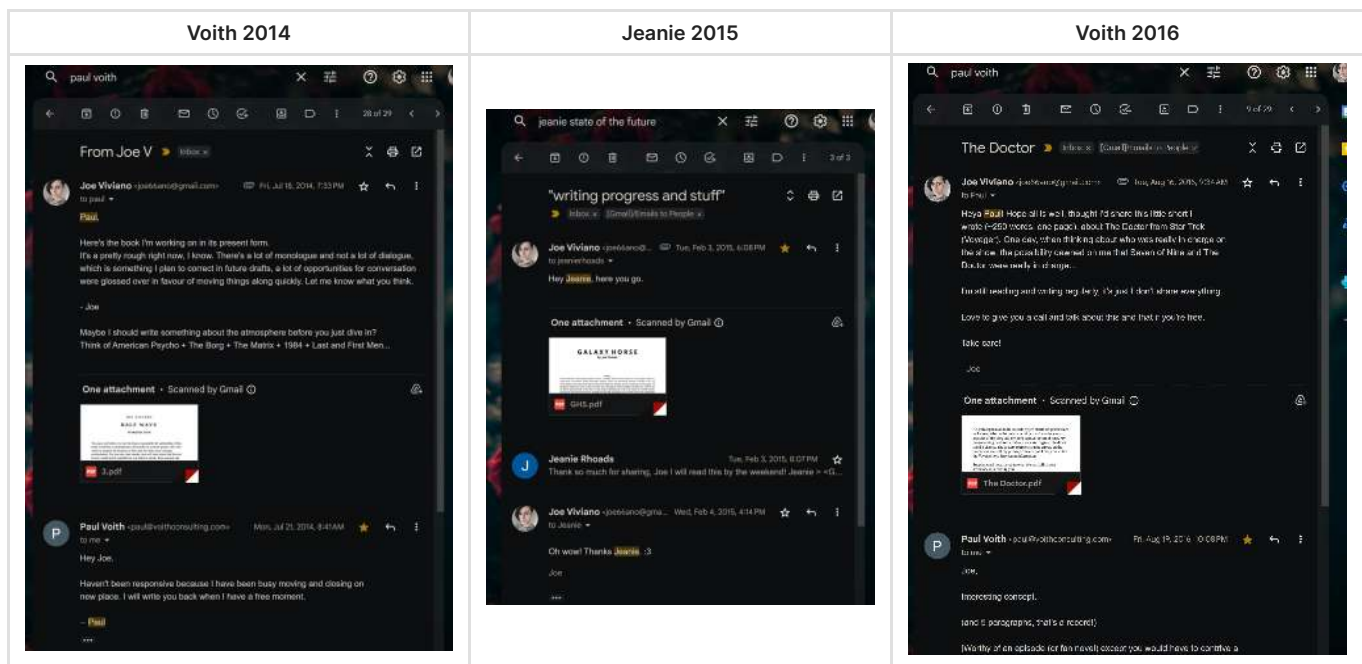

I told the user I spoke with (nik) about how my grandfather created something called the star tracker, yet shortly afterwards nik would make me aware by way of suicide threats that he won a 2nd Place Hackathon Prize only one month later, and since my grandfather was the rescuer I wanted growing up this gave the predator more control:

Later on Nicholas's GitHub led me to believe the FPGA device may have been programmed by the mentor themselves. Because this is an FPGA manual and the only other person who I sent my first novel to was Paul Voith, who is an embedded systems engineer, I suspected by 2023 he could be connected somehow. Jeanie Rhodes was the only other person I shared my novel with, who I reported in another IC3 report. I have also noted that Sergei Govorkov (who is partnered with Emma Catchpole), has an interest in FPGA devices too; this couple was a friend of Birta Bivrest and Ivan Malakhau - two Belarusian immigrants who sought to groom me in person.

It's also worth stating that at one point my therapist Rose Holt remarked "It seems like you could write movies or something!" and my lawyer, prior to my parents terminating me, expressed shock (if not fear) to learn Rose Holt was my therapist, because she was apparently John Pawloski's parents therapist also.

What I think likely happened was: I started writing these stories which could incriminate my parents as medical child abusers, and my parents feared exposure so they engineered this entire cyber trauma to eclipse my past medical sexual trauma. According to my Cumulative Record I was withdrawn from St. Gabriel the Archangel in 2002. That means that the cystoscopy without anesthesia for kidney stone treatment would have happened some time before that, which would also be sometime before CPS was called on my parents house. I do remember that I was assigned to dispose of Betty Boop iconography and other artifacts because my father claimed "they will latch on to anything."

The predator "nik" wasn't the only user to manipulate me, there was also Joshua Doty and Erik Dains: two people who seemed unrelated but followed similar intimidation techniques as Taylor Ermolov and Eden Cobaugh. Also among the 2meirl4meil members was Magic the Gathering artist Evyn Fong - who I vividly recall commenting on nik's appearance in the underage lewd spinoff server, stating that nik looks like one of those sea nymphs who would lure sailors to their doom. And because Mrs. Fong was 8 years older than the then 16 year old Ermolov, I can only conclude that she and others groomed the young Ermolov to be an abuse instrument.

Here is some evidence the cyberstalking and intimidation is still an ongoing thing:

Based on the Asgard "Bivrest_bot" I suspect there is some Nazi idealism here.

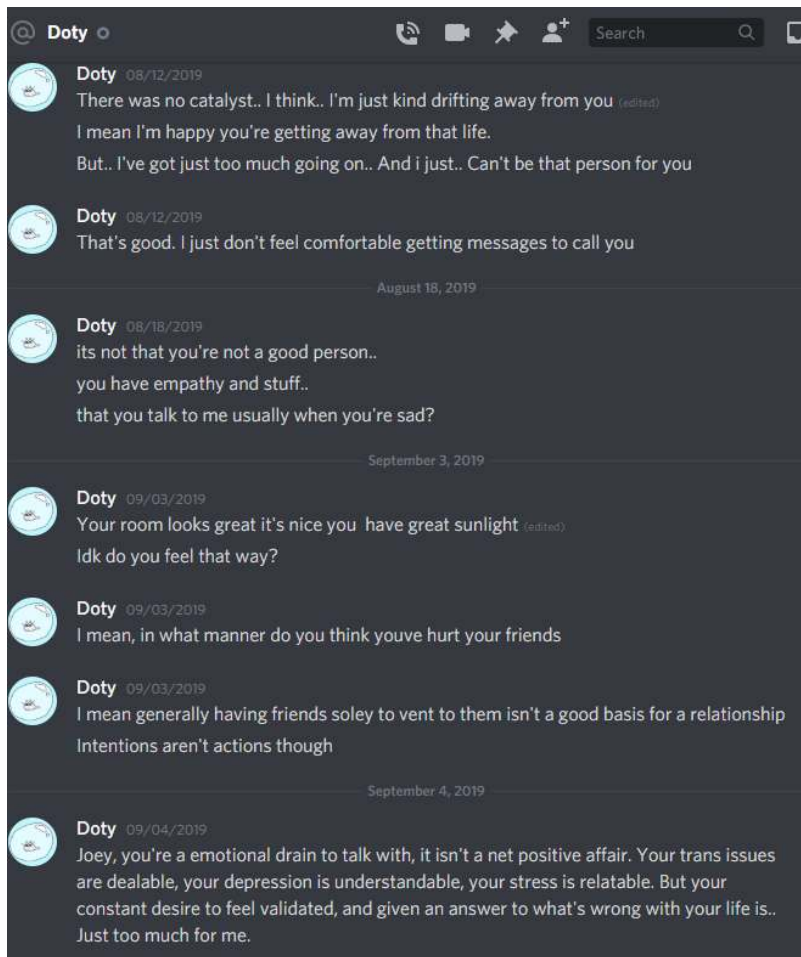

One of the earliest intimidators however was Greg Farough, who I met with once, shared writings with, and had him update his profile picture on Discord to a Louis Wain painting (my username was starcat and I didn't realize this was intimidation until I looked backwards in retrospect). Nick also had a friend named Siliconwolf13 who was frequently depicted wearing a Nazi armband. I do not have proof I was friends with Greg on Discord anymore:

Josh Doty's pattern of abuse is similar. Secretly he, Erik Dains nik were emotionally blackmailing me with a combination of suicide threats and complaints about their appearance to make themselves into obstacles to my transition. Josh reacted to my decision to delete all my messages to him in 2020 by updating his profile picture to a photograph of a cat in a bubble, as a reference to my newfound appreciation for Mew: a new symbol of my longing for independence and freedom. Josh continued to intimidate me sporadically over the course of 4 years, most recently by following my new Instagram account name (Norah Jo Vii) which I never gave him. This was several years after he ghosted me at the start of my transition:

Disturbingly I reflected more about my time with Josh and discovered the following on GitHub:

November 2018:

In November 2018, Tumblr made changes to its terms of service banning all "adult content." Their published statements made it clear they were particularly concerned about "child pornography," but the ban went far beyond child pornography or any kind of pornography to cover pretty much any material that might be called "NSFW." Many users driven away from Tumblr (nearly all of them English-speaking and politically Blue) came to Mastodon, especially mastodon.social and the purpose-created instances humblr.social (now at #5 on the population ranking) and sinblr.com (which would be at #11 if my list went that far).

This doesn't actually have to be merged. It's more for anyone else who's looking to archive their years worth of likes before Tumblr `rm -rf`s them into oblivion.

I intended to make it cleaner, but given Tumblr's two week deadline before they delete all NSFW content --and I'm sure plenty of other content that's going to get swept up in this accidentally-- I figured someone might find it useful in its present state.

The code is updated to archive all likes, with a ten second pause between API calls to try and avoid hitting API quotas. The previous code would only get the 1000 most recent likes.

Potential remaining problems:

- I don't think I've gotten incremental backup working with this yet (can't just rely on latest timestamp like you can for a blog's posts, since a user could conceivably run around "liking" older posts; I think that's what stopped me from trying to tackle this before, since I'd have to iterate over the whole collection anyway to make sure nothing was missed).
- The rendered HTML shows the chronological order of the content's posting, not the time when the user actually "liked" the post.
- No way to view likes by tag (though it looks like this is an open feature request)

I was going to get around to those problems "eventually", but my philosophy is that I can also download the json payloads and sort it all out... "eventually".

I've been running this script like so:

If only it was possible just the download all of <https://www.tumblr.com/likes> while logged in via cli,

I had actually felt a great deal of relief when Tumblr decided to ban pornography in November 2018, for me and for Josh's generation, which is why it was unsettling for me to discover that Josh was eager to download all his likes. This was also around the same time period when Josh and nik would attempt to get me to join Matrix: a new encrypted chat application, however I was disinterested in being less visible to the state in this era.

On August 5th 2018 nik left a taunting message (on Matrix) that I would later experience as latent emotional abuse (meaning it was more disturbing later) after learning that he and Parker did not create the code camp:

A flickr account indicated there were many incarnations of the camp:

Nick reported (feigned?) memory loss while trying to work out a timeline of his depression which started around January - March 2016:

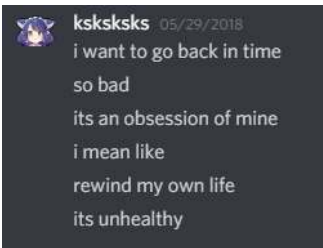

03/07/2017

03/08/2017

03/14/2017

03/07/2017	03/08/2017	03/14/2017

These points of dissonance and unrelatability deployed in 2017 would later on be experienced as latent emotional abuse. The preexisting flame a possible reference to the Code Camp Kids "flame" icon. Nick also spoke of corrupting people which seemed very out of character for a mentor figure.

05/29/2018	12/09/2018	03/18/2019	08/19/2019

Given all prior statement nik's "It's all internal" comment was highly disturbing (or it's someone playing with object relations theory). Nick also balked "that's the boring kinda illegal" when I'd express anxiety over speed-listening to books being a form of unauthorized reproduction.

03/09/2019	03/10/2019

Just a few months before the January - March 2016 "memory loss" window nik provided, Nicholas Ermolov "liked" the app "Booster":

The image displays three side-by-side screenshots of mobile application interfaces, likely for a social or e-commerce platform. Each screenshot shows a user's profile page.

- Middle Screenshot (Parker Thompson): The profile header is white with the name "Parker Thompson" and a "UPVOTE 174" button. Below the header, there are statistics: "12 Following" and "2 Followers". A section titled "ACTIVITY" shows a post from "Joined on October 21st, 2016" with a "COPY LINK" button. The bottom section shows "Upvotes (3)" and a search bar.

Booster, a member company of the CDC, boasted a "live broadcasts" feature which enables consumers to pay for things advertised live: a feature set which would empower cybersex traffickers to abuse people over the clear net in exchange for money. You can listen to someone talking about the app in 2017 here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AiVJBk759Z0>

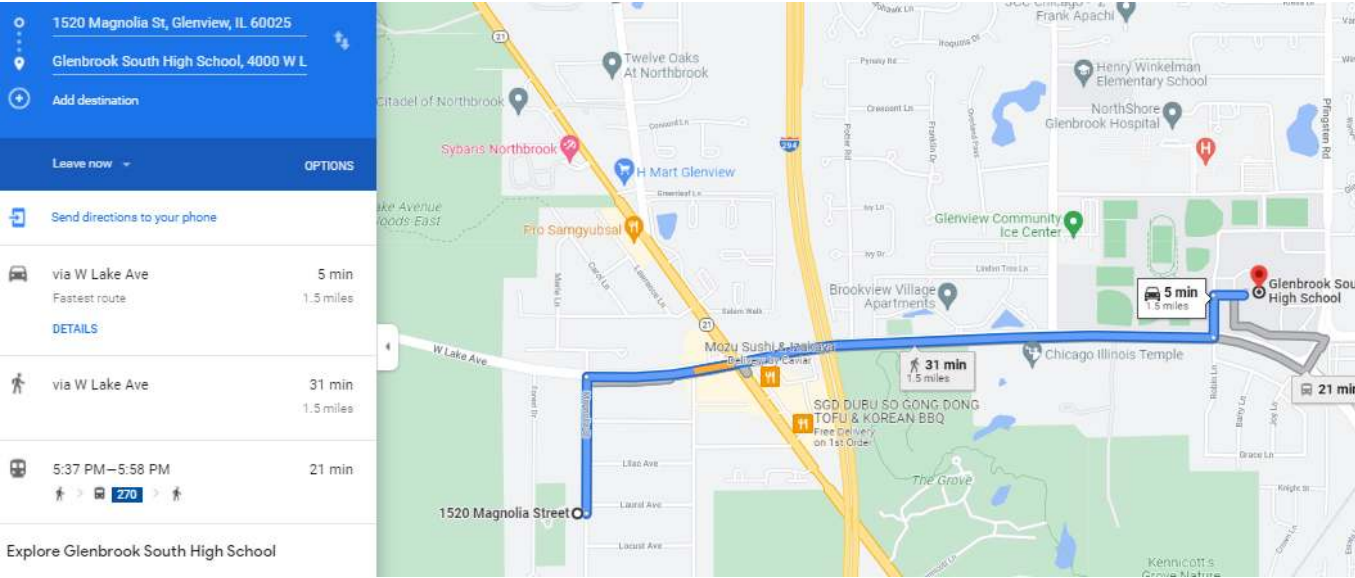

Meeseeks, another 2meirl4meirl member, told me he was a homeless trucker, yet according to this he uses Docker containers:

The image is a composite of two screenshots. The left screenshot shows a forum thread titled "Meeseeks: 2020 Docker" on a dark-themed website. The thread contains several posts from users like meeseeks, starcat, and bluebird, discussing Docker container CPU usage and performance. The right screenshot shows a "Phone lookup" section. It features a profile for "Isaac A Baby" from "Navajo Dam, NM" with a blue circular icon containing the letters "IB". Below the profile, it states "1 Linked Person" and lists "Bobby" as a linked person, providing a phone number "(708) 407-5682" and a location "Glenview, IL". At the bottom of the phone lookup section, there is a map showing a location near "1520 Magnolia St, Glenview, IL 60025" with a phone icon and a "v13" label.

A secondary search done again on 3/12/2023:

I decided to look up his phone number and discovered his identity was Bobby Kriaras: 35 year old man born in 1988 living in Glenview Illinois, just 5 minutes away from Nick's high school:

Apart from Evyn Fong and Eden Cobaugh I located another person who was significantly older than Nick.

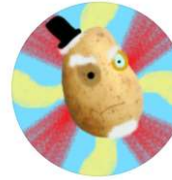

Taylor (nik) reported wanting to merge into one unit which I found unsettling given their prior description of themselves as a "master of alieivating bored" on the one hand and Eden Cobaugh's "gift" of a "senpai" shirt. Also disturbing to me was the "First Rule" post which I worried could be a cry for help:

On the one hand, I found it unsettling that nik Nick would update their profile picture on facebook to an effigy of me in 2019 after I blocked them, on the other hand I wondered why all this time they had used profile pictures that looked like women who looked like how I'd eventually look. I also questioned if this group hadn't murdered garbo somehow.

Before I attempt to discuss nik's possible threats against black children I feel like I need to showcase Nick's connection to the user "Tater" and possibly white supremacy:

Taylor (nik) is the only member of the confederate states.

Thompson has been proficient in programming languages for years. He started learning at 11. Thompson and another high school student now run the classes geared toward adolescents, called CS Upstart.

He graduated Thursday from the Charleston School of the Arts and is heading to Brandeis University in Boston to study economics and political science. Thompson said scholarships he obtained through the Digital Corridor, which was created by the city and is now a private nonprofit, meant he never had to pay for a class himself. He and his partner in running the camps, an 18-year-old Chicago-area student, have been working on outreach to minority communities to enroll as many of those students as possible.

"I come from a minority background," Thompson said. "It became very apparent to me that what I had wouldn't be afforded to other students in my position."

The camps are held at the Digital Corridor's Meeting Street office. Three sessions are being offered this summer, priced between $249 and $269. The first class starts July 8. A web development camp teaches core concepts and the principals of web design, Thompson said. The other, in robotics, borrows the Montessori model and encourages hands-on learning and allows kids to build their own models.

Kids in need of scholarships can contact kristen@charlestdigitalcorridor.com or call 843-579-7659. Money for the scholarships was raised through the Digital Corridor's annual iFiveK race, which many local technology firms participate in.

It is not the only coding camp for kids in Charleston or South Carolina. Charleston Women in Tech runs another, called CodeON, also geared toward minority students. The classes are free.

Technical Lead

Nick is the Technical Lead here at the Digital Corridor. He develops and maintains the CDC's website and SaaS platforms as well as assisting member companies with their technical needs. He also leads the charge for the CODEcamp Kids program by developing the curriculum and participating as an instructor.

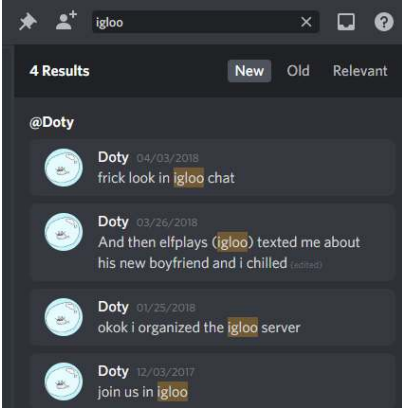

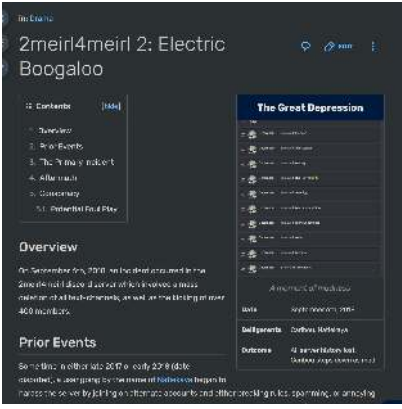

Originally from Chicago, Nick is a self taught software engineer with a passion for learning. In his off time, he takes advantage of all the incredible outdoor activities the southeast region provides.

I notice that nick is still Nicholas at work despite working so hard to transition and pass, etc. The threat to minority life seems plausible considering the previous and frequent Boogaloo references (also "igloo" is a part of Boogaloo iconography):

Based on all that I couldn't help but notice that Parker Thompson launched an Instagram boasting his blackness or alleged blackness and how he was "always" been pro-j. Which I think means "J" for social justice.

09/24/2021	supplemental
	always 1/2 Here are the biggest warning signs that reveal a dishonest person: 1. They speak in absolutes, such as 'always' and 'never.' Absolutes are meant to support a point of view, but they're rarely true and can easily incite denial and opposition. When someone says, "You never compliment me," for example, they're just begging you to say: "That's ridiculous! I remember giving you compliments!" Even when you know that someone is just exaggerating, it can be hard to tell if they know it. When absolutes go unchallenged, they have a perverse tendency to be reborn as the truth. People who are trustworthy tend to use words that soften absolutes, such as "usually," "often," "probably," "practically," "sometimes," "frequently" and "generally."

"J" definitely doesn't mean Jew concerning the "wiki" page, a user named "Judia", who previously described themselves as an out and proud pedophile, deleted multiple pages for starcat (Norah Vii), Doty (Joshua Doty), freon (Bryan Taylor), and Floopeh:

Here is a display of stalking and intimidation displayed by nik (who has an alt named Firmative):

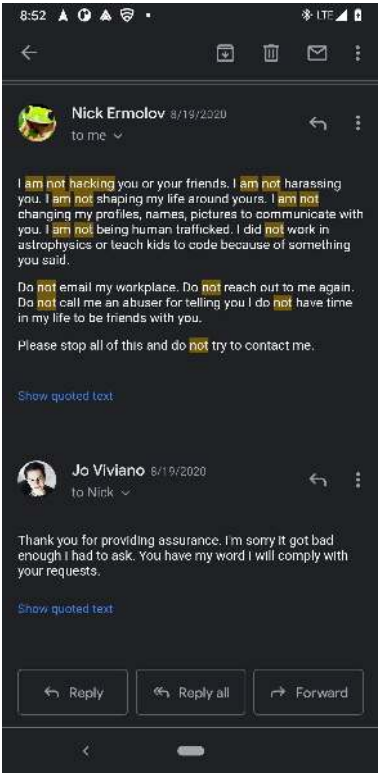

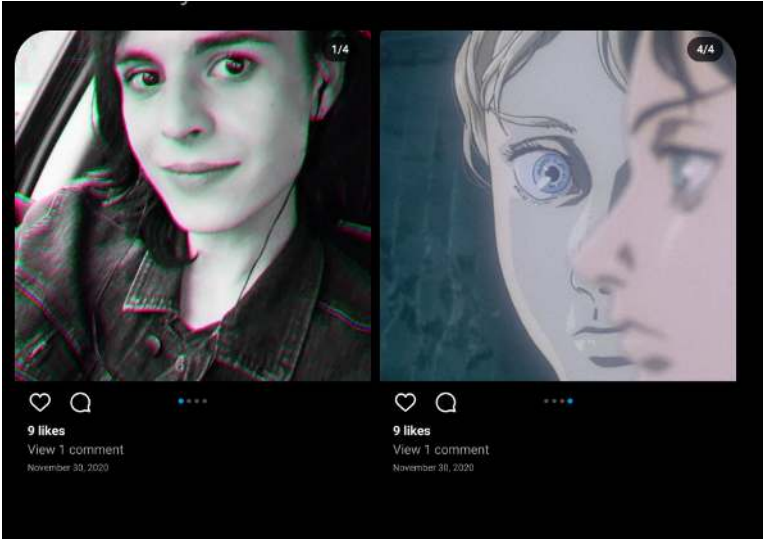

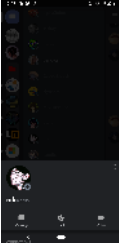

08/25/2020	08/26/2020	08/26/2020

I feel it's worth stating that the way this sign of stalking is planted, I do not need to monitor nik's account on a daily basis for me to learn that I factually am being monitored on a daily basis

An Instagram photo upload on my part confirms that nik is stalking me daily, because they updated their profile image to a black and white photograph of a woman with lines across her face the following day:

08/19/2020	10/30/2020: Instagram	12/01/2020: Discord
------------	-----------------------	---------------------

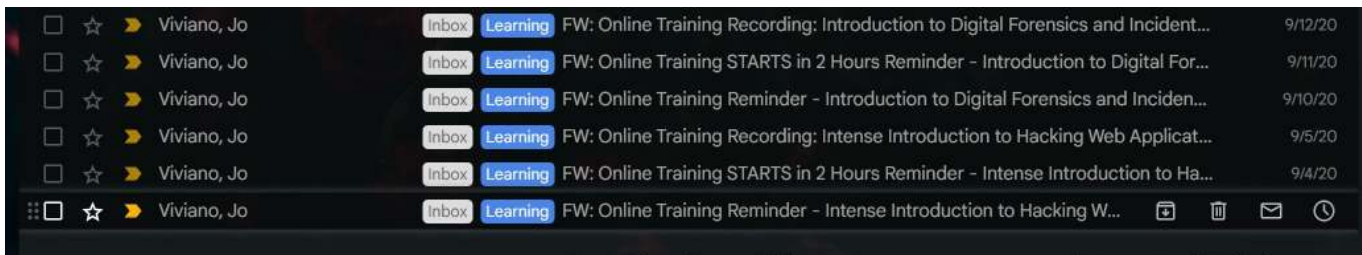

08/19/2020	10/30/2020: Instagram	12/01/2020: Discord

These landmark signs of daily cyber stalking and intimidation directly contradicted Nick Ermolov's claim not to be stalking or harassing me.

10/21/2020	06/13/2022

I received the attack on the left while at work, and the profile image on the right is a sign the stalkers are aware of my unemployment years later. Faintly you can see the user "essie" in the screenshot above this one on the 12/01/2020 screenshot.

When earlier I was distressed about the situation at the code camp I started learning a little more about networking at work including topics like hacking however in 2020 another likely invasion of my privacy revealed itself in the form of the creation of the "Mission: Hack" program:

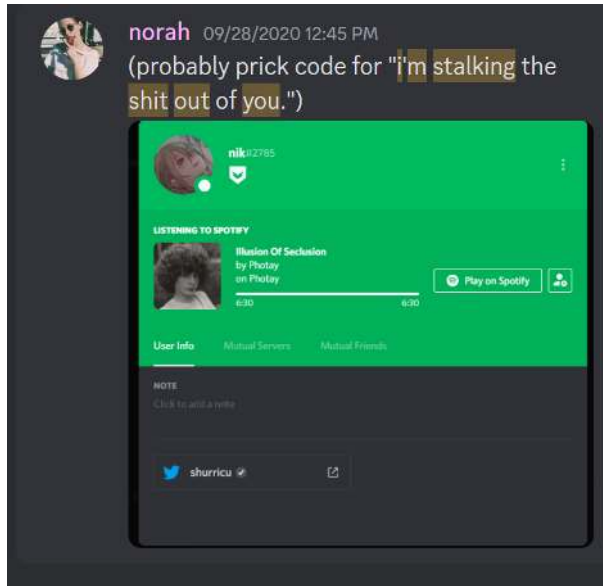

Legacy Fund: 2020	Mission Hack: 2020
  Dear Supporters of the Legacy Fund, I would like to sincerely thank you for your generous donation helping fund the WOW Social Justice Fellowship program. Your contribution enabled me to pursue an unpaid internship during an unprecedented time in our world. Without this internship and your assistance my summer would have lacked the learning and substance that I was seeking. I had the privilege of working with the Charleston Digital Corridor (CDC) in Charleston, SC. The CDC is focused on advancing Charleston's tech economy as well as creating opportunities for a diverse set of entrepreneurs in the region. Having been born and raised in South Carolina, I felt this was an incredible opportunity to make an impact in my local community. The bulk of my time at the CDC was spent conducting research and developing diversity reports on the tech industry at large as well as in Southern specific regions. I was largely focused on the racial and gender disparities in the tech industry, especially as they pertain to computer science.     During my internship, I conducted over fifty interviews with executives, programmers, and engineers on their personal experiences in the tech industry. I devised this effort to better reinforce my research as well as gain an enhanced perspective as I developed my reports. This project in particular was deeply enriching both personally and professionally. The in-between time during my projects was spent developing a future summer program aimed at empowering underserved young adults through experiential STEM learning to encourage growth and diversity in a technology focused world. The program, named Mission: Hack, will tentatively begin piloting in 3 cities in the U.S. during the summer of 2021. In addition to my working accomplishments over the course of the internship, I was able to better understand my career pathway moving forward. Having long held a passion for community impact and diversification research, my interests were reinforced this summer. Without this internship I believe my summer would've been much more sedentary. I am so grateful to have partaken in this program and look forward to seeing its exponential impact on me in the future.   With significant gratitude, Parker Thompson	  Executive Director Mission Hack May 2020 - Present · 2 mos Boston, Massachusetts, United States Mission Hack bridges the diversity gap in tech by empowering underserved students through experiential learning.

Also in 2020 it appeared once that Nick deliberately paused on this song as an intimidation technique. I do not know for sure in what way the Yuri profile picture is meant to be intimidating but it is true that I sometimes sleep with a sock hanging halfway off my foot so maybe it's meant to make me feel violated.

Erik Dains (host of the 2lewd server) and Joshua Doty were among the two who would groom me. I am only speculating but I think it's possible Erik Dain's instagram photograph of a broken cup is an outward symbol of his identity as cuppleach:

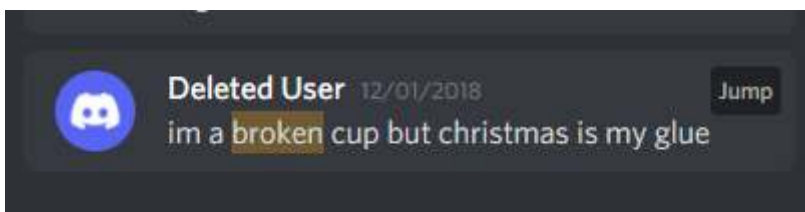

Erik

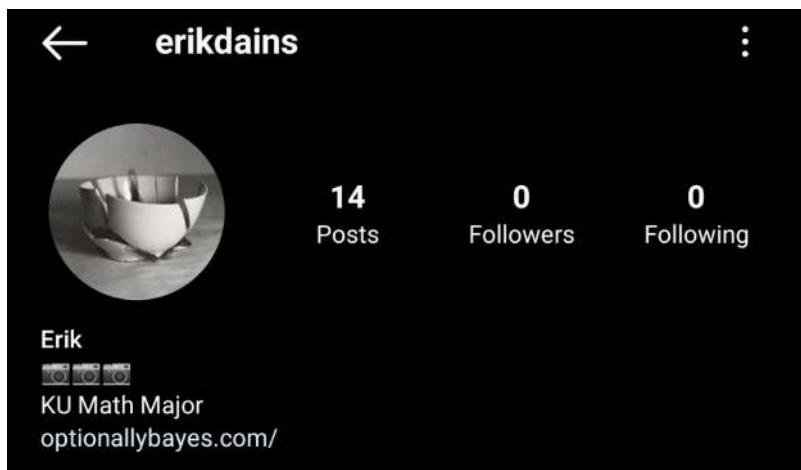

Cuppy

Here is a comment from cuppy's deleted account:

The Instagram:

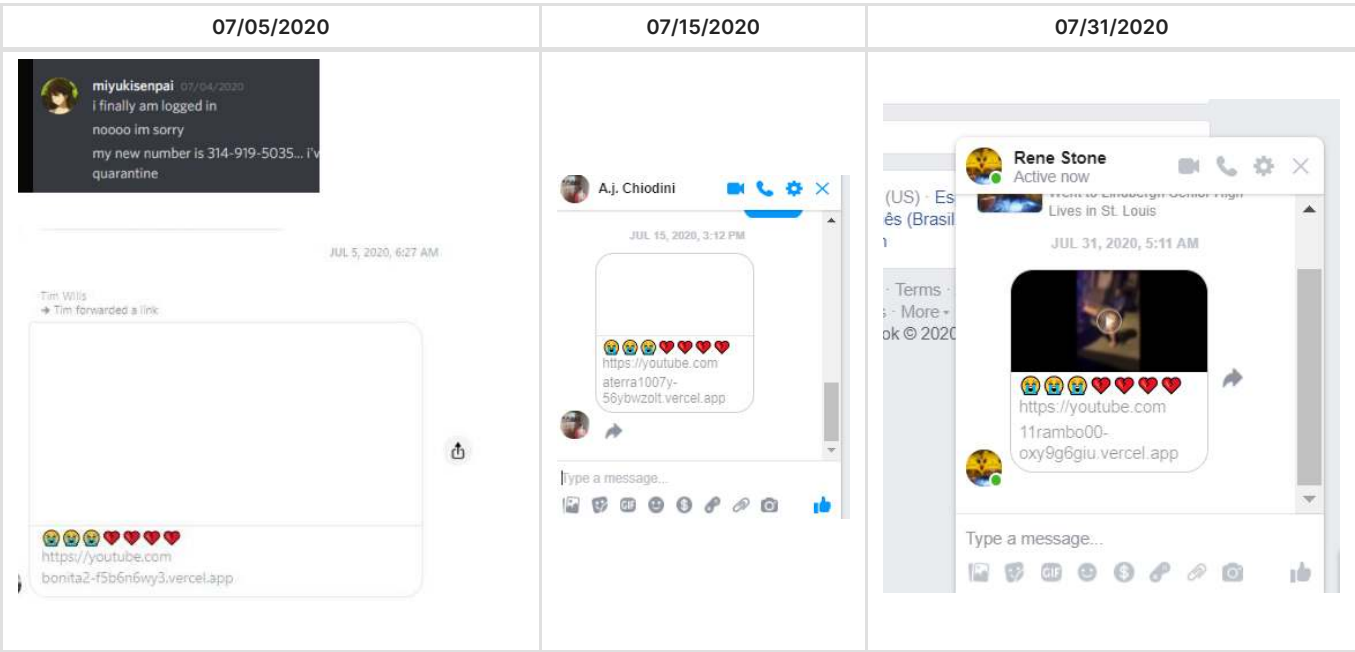

By "grooming" I mean I would video call with him and Josh on occasion and talk about life and my struggles with existence, while they would frequently complain about how ugly they were or felt they were as a form of gang emotional blackmail. Possibly I was a part of some e-whoring gig but I don't really know. My novel Half Wave / Spacehorse etc made me incredibly scared about whatever obstacles I would face in the future were I to transition, and though Erik's frequent mention of VR pornography and Josh's frequent mention of Vocaloid that was enough to scare me about the potential blowback which might negatively impact the trans community. nik, the other manipulator, would constantly allude to possibly being a pedophile as evidenced by his interest in rewinding his life etc.

Eden Cobaugh would emerge as I was fired for transition to join the other harassers:

My aunt, Nekana Voith (Paul Voith's wife at the time), was affected too:

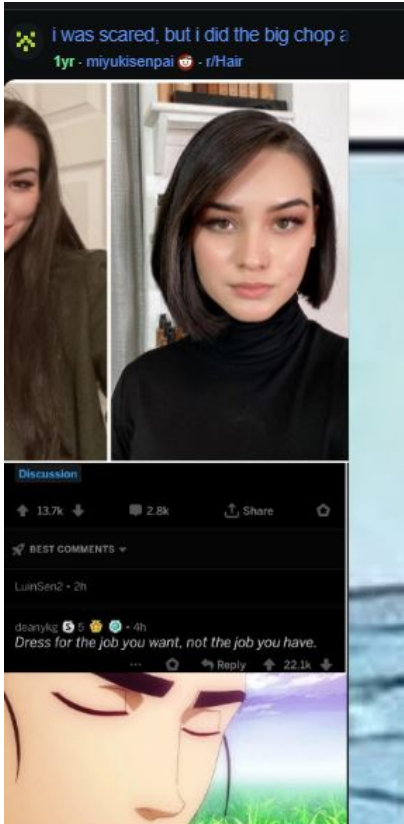

By reverse-image searching Eden's Spotify profile picture I discovered her identity:

After I confronted her, she deleted both accounts. Her messages were deleted from my phone, so I recovered them and converted her tattoo into a scarecrow:

August 31 2020	Eye 1	Eye 2	Deleted Reddit

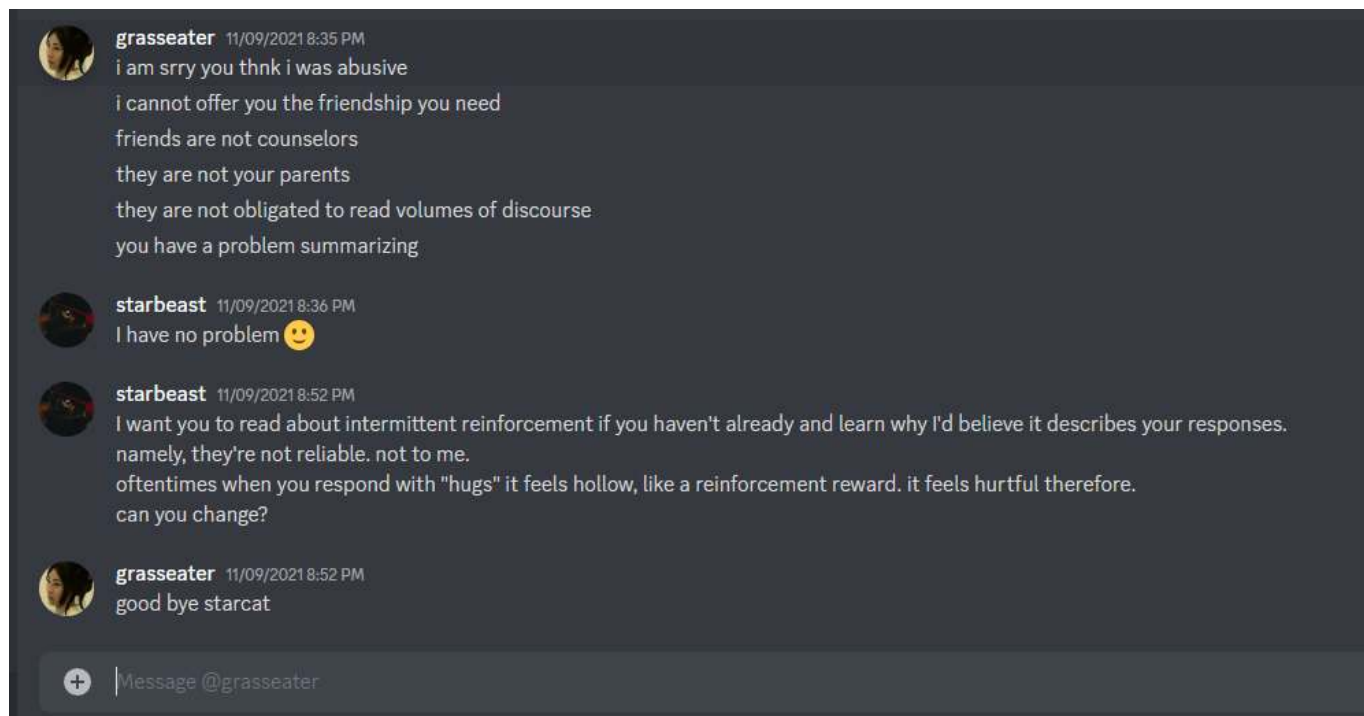

Eden Cobaugh (DOB 1995-96) also tried to delete her reddit account however it remains on an archiving service. For whatever reason Eden seems to be taking ownership of the abuse, possibly evidenced by her choice to wear a black turtleneck sweater which is similar to the Ilya

Kuvshinov profile pictures frequently used by the user nik.

This is not the only asian woman to befriend and later intimidate me, there is also Tofu Mx Tang:

Facebook	Discord 2021

Tofu does not appear to really be a trans woman upon closer inspection of her facebook account, but I can only speculate. The way she misspelled things in the messages above gave me cause to believe she was among the people tasked with harassing me.

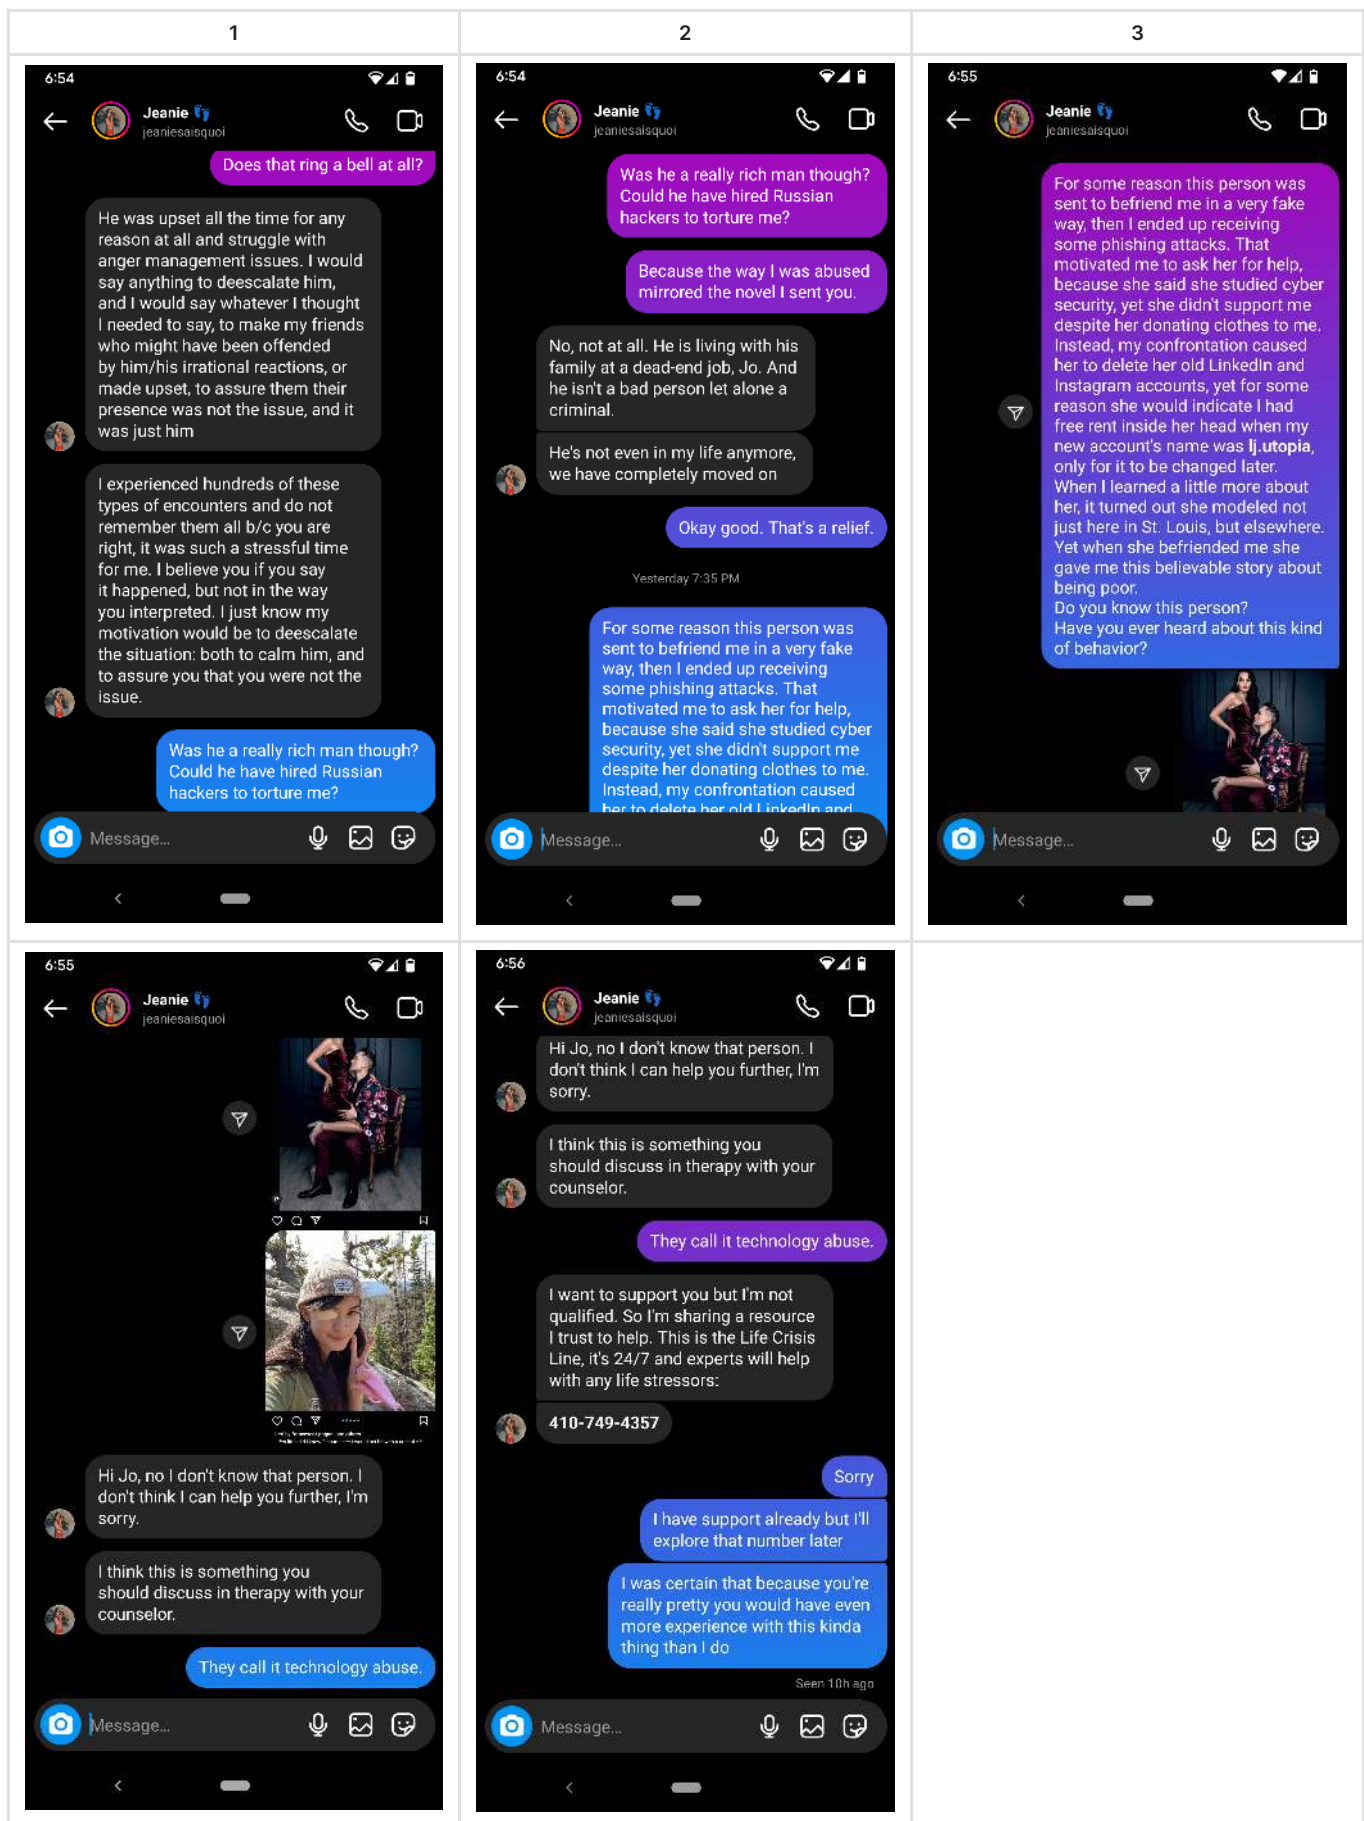

Even Jeanie Rhodes appeared to intimidate me when her profile picture was changed shortly after I confronted her about Eden and her ex partner Ryan (observed on 08/07/2022):

Contacted 06/03/2022:

A screenshot of a text message conversation on a smartphone. The time is 5:35. The contact is "Jeanie" with the handle "jeaniesaisquoi". A large blue bubble contains the following text: "hey Jeanie, Sorry to bother you with this but it might be important. For as long as 7 years people on the internet groomed me (from 2016 to 2019) and stalked me (from 2019 to the present day). Since you said you were afraid of an ex partner who you needed to use a service like Safe Connections to escape from, I was wondering if this individual could have the connections to stalk or even hire others to stalk me for them. I remembered also that your ex used me as an excuse to break up with you, so I imagined that could have been where this started. If any of this sounds possible to you, or if you are comfortable with telling me, then let me know this person's full name and I'll add it to my records or see if something matches up. I encourage you to call me sometime regardless though! A lot has changed in my life and it would be nice to hear how you're doing."	A screenshot of a text message conversation on a smartphone. The time is 5:31. The contact is "Jeanie" with the handle "jeaniesaisquoi". A large blue bubble contains the following text: "Hi Jo, I have read and reread your message a few times to be sure that I understand who you're speaking about, but I do not remember or agree with what you said—Neither what you think I said about my ex, or the actions he or I took. To be clear: - He is not/was never a stalker. - I was not afraid of him. - I sought counseling because it was time I went to therapy. This coincided with when I left that relationship. - He did not break up with me - I left him. - We never had any argument or discussion about you. I'm not saying this to correct you; I am only correcting you to help you gain clarity, in hopes if it helps you understand and feel better too. I am confused as to why you think those things, but I want to assure you that you were not a topic, nor a problem in our relationship."	A screenshot of a text message conversation on a smartphone. The time is 6:53. The contact is "Jeanie" with the handle "jeaniesaisquoi". A large blue bubble contains the following text: "I remembered at the time that I was at your apartment, and your partner came home. For some reason, he thought I was interested in you and was upset by my presence, and I recalled you saying I was not a threat, because I was gay. I suppose, I don't remember who broke up with who, just that it was a stressful time for you in general." A smaller blue bubble below it says: "Does that ring a bell at all?" A grey bubble below that says: "He was upset all the time for any reason at all and struggle with anger management issues. I would say anything to deescalate him, and I would say whatever I thought I needed to say, to make my friends who might have been offended by him/his irrational reactions, or made upset, to assure them their presence was not the issue, and it was just him" A final grey bubble at the bottom says: "I experienced hundreds of these types of encounters and do not remember them all b/c you are"

Eden Cobaugh continues to display (ongoing) signs of cyberstalking and intimidating me, such as the addition of the Ψ symbol to her profile as I get a job at WashU Radiology:

Intimidation: 01/19/2022

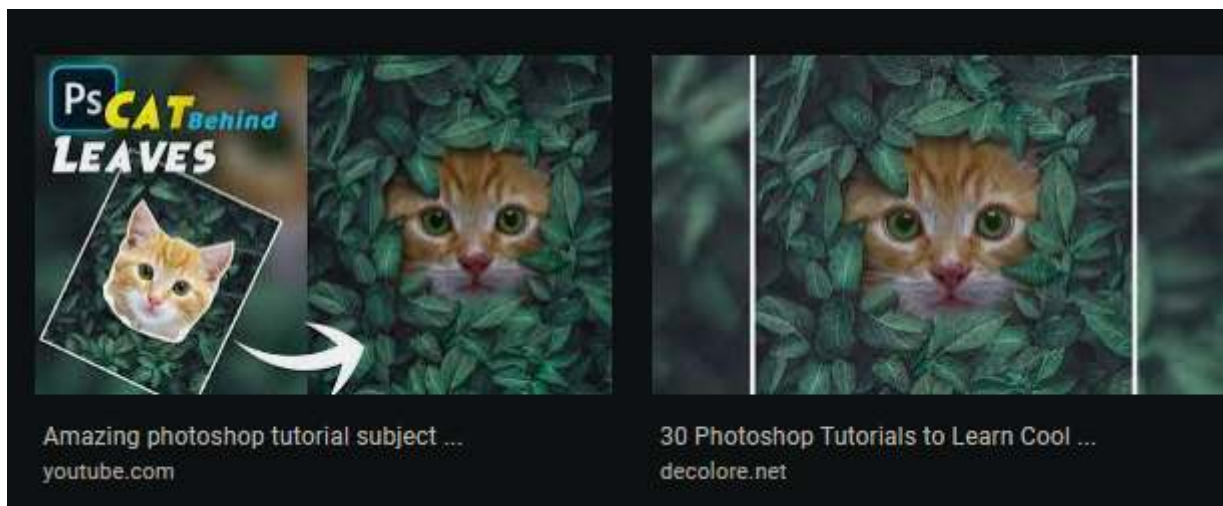

Withdrawal link: 03/01/2023

Here is another photograph of an asian threat actor who I only know by the Discord username Anshin and by his given name Bob:

[illegible]

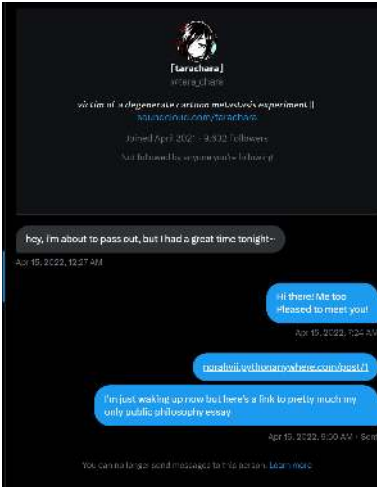

Bob also did not update his profile picture until 07/25/2022 (a two year absence), and when he did it was to display a vanishing cat photograph:

Also while simply trying to understand if nik/Nicholas/Taylor was alive or dead, I felt very uneasy about the ongoing mirroring behaviors and questioned if Nick wasn't a psychopath or groomed victim:

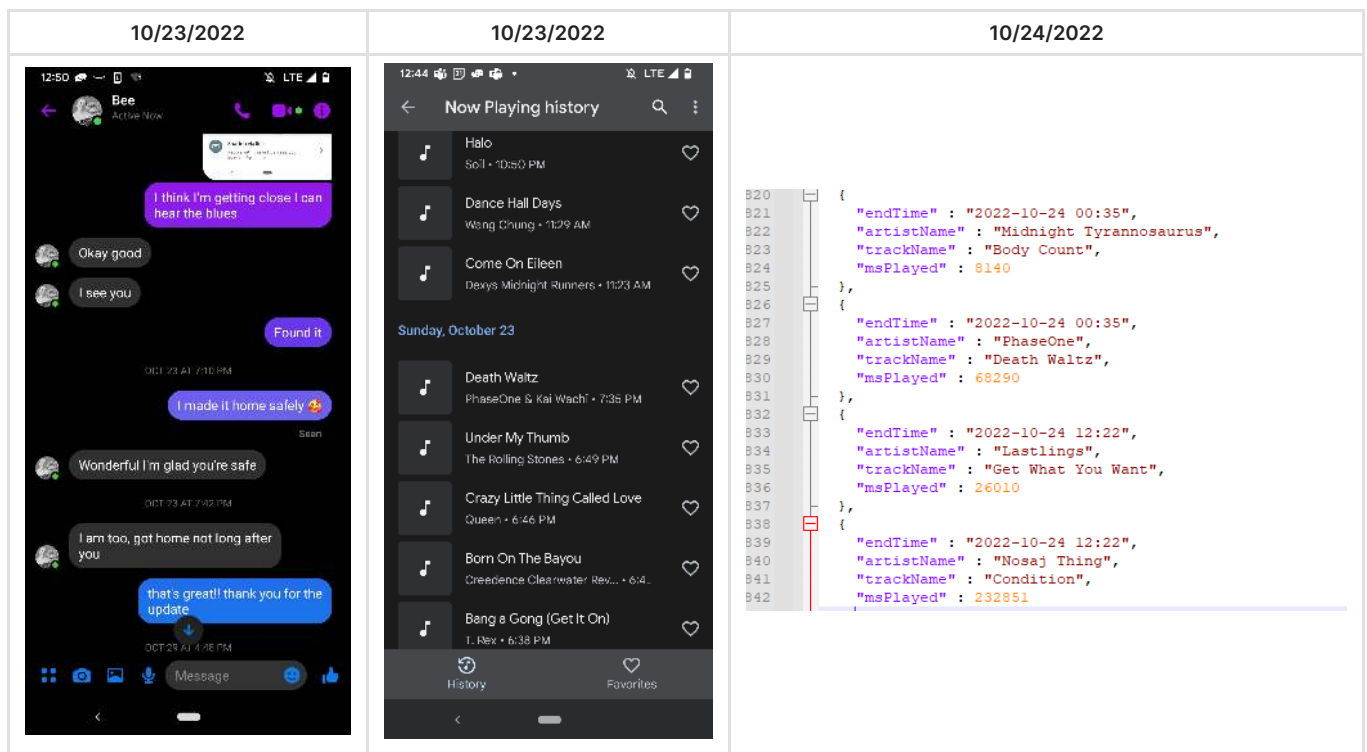

2017	2021	2021

More recently (April 15th 2022 - October 24th 2022) I experienced a series of group intimidation events by Tara Chandler, Bee Cyrus and Taylor Ermolov, and finally Sarah Coladipietro.

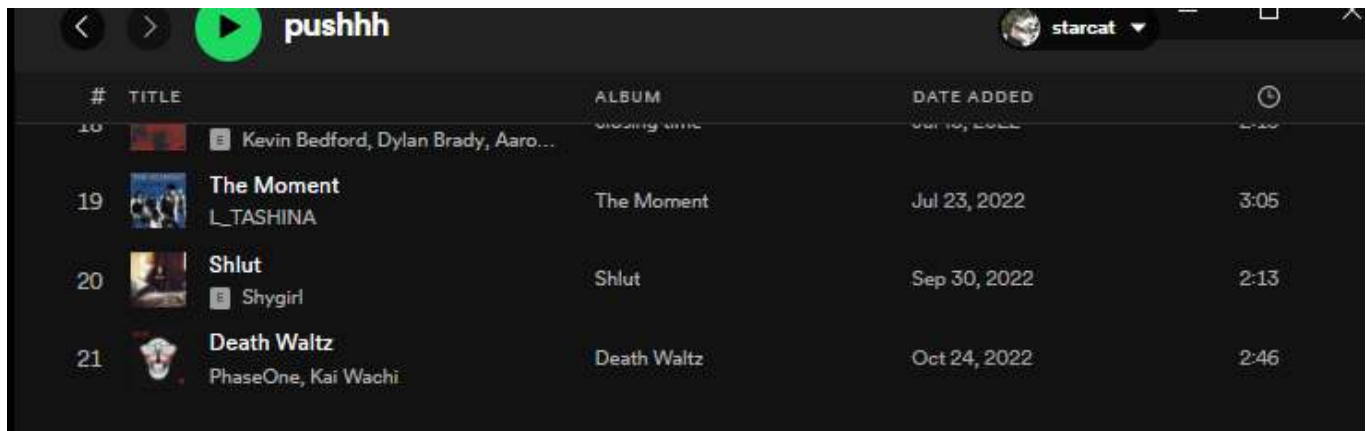

04/14/2022	04/15/2022	Identity
		  Name: Tara Chandler Age: 24 Size: 5' 4" Twitter: @tara_chara Instagram: @tarachara Deviantart: Tarachara Tinder: @Tarachara Linkedin: tara chandler Address: 9445 Green Park Gardens Dr St Louis, MO 63123 (unverified) Education: Webster University Charges: talking about "incomprehensible soyjacks" on twitter

This would begin by Tara chandler giving me a "Ryuk" pin while I was at The Crack Fox. I really didn't think anything was odd about it, besides that the would-be philosopher refrained from commenting about the blog I sent. Mostly everything on their Twitter made me uncomfortable so I blocked the person.

So, I had actually added the track to a fresh playlist before deciding there was something problematic about the lyrics in the song "Death Waltz" which were "I'm going to kill you today." - it seemed likely that Bee Cyrus was attempting to manufacture evidence I was sending coded death threat messages across Spotify so I decided to migrate the track "Death Waltz" to a playlist entitled "pushhh" since it was my push factor playlist:

And then I learned my instinct was right and Taylor had indeed created some kind of Spotify related repository on GitHub on October 23rd just one hour prior to my "Now Playing History" app picking up the song:

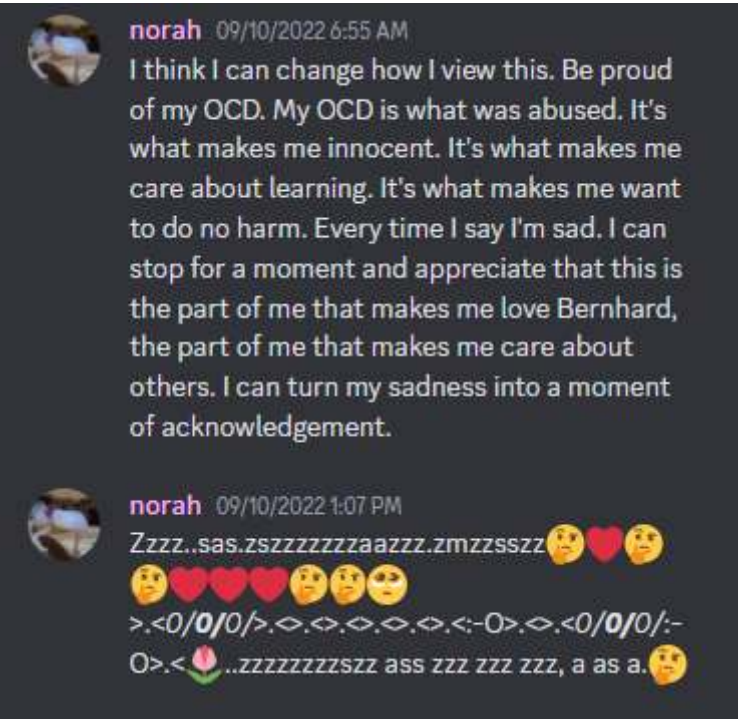

And finally Sarah Coladipietro was blocked and also intimidated me by updating her profile picture to Ryuk, more or less completing the circle:

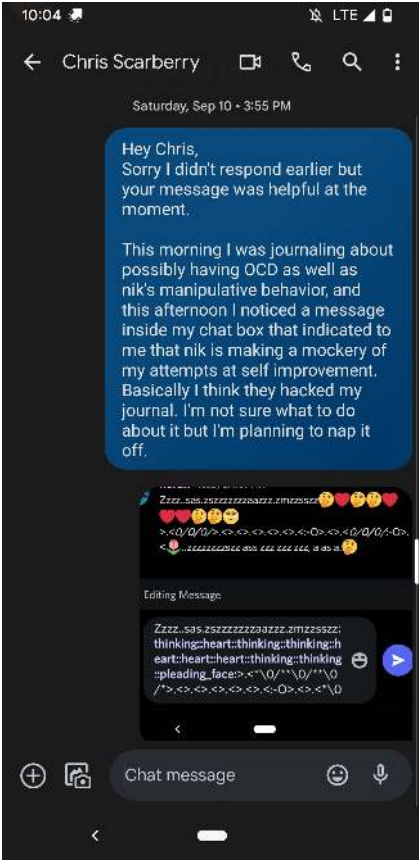

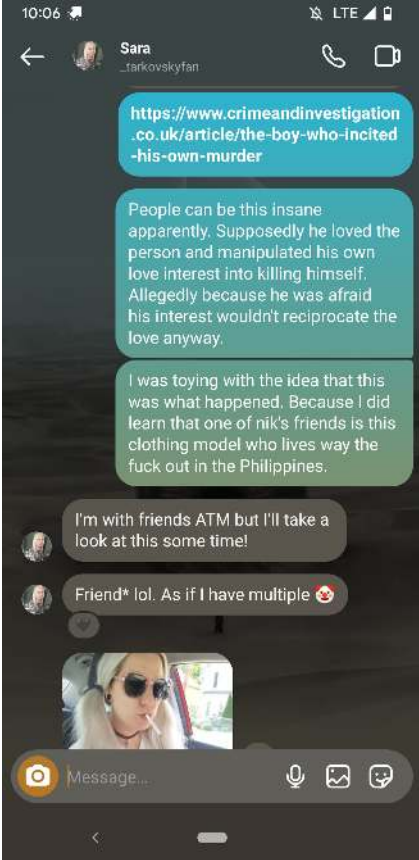

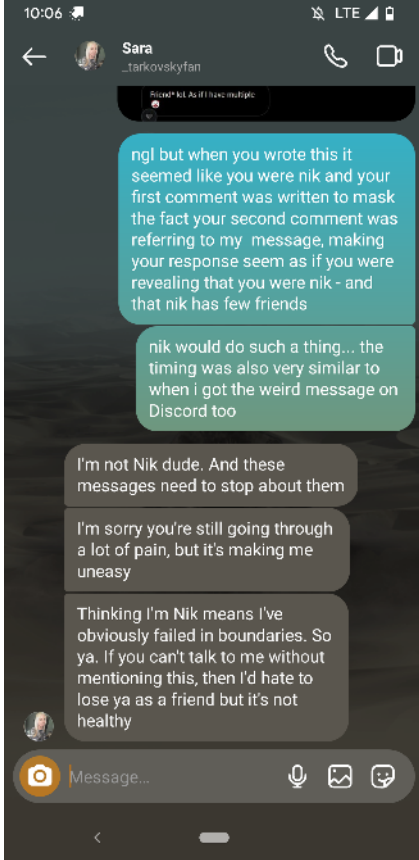

Given that Sarah works with a vulnerable population I currently fear the worst and imagine it's possible given the entire chain of events that she's in some way complicit in a human trafficking operation or cyber exploitation ring.

Prior to this I also experienced some additional signs of Discord hacking intrusion around September 10th 2023:

Chris Scarberry was my therapist but I decided to look for another one. In my judgement the patterns are too specific and repetitive to be anything else besides an act of harassment.

Molly Van Roy is another person who with the help of an accomplice (Liv Gans) sought to fabricate evidence of sexual assault shortly before my newfound employment at Washington University. However I walked away because I do not assault people.

Thank you again for any help you can provide. I tend to fear this is escalating constantly or like a part time job. It's been emotionally stressful and I did develop some PTSD over it. I would appreciate it if you could offer me any assurance that something is being done about all this.

Thank you sincerely,
Norah Vii
